

PERSONAL OPINION QUESTIONNAIRE

THIS IS NOT A TEST. There are no right or wrong answers. Because this is an OPINION SURVEY, whatever your opinion is, is the correct response.

Please read carefully each of the statements listed below. Read the entire question and give your FIRST opinion. If you feel a statement is true, circle the T. If you feel a statement is false circle the F. Do not leave any statements unanswered. DO NOT erase or change your answer. Remember we want your FIRST OPINION.

- T F 1. My way of doing things is often misunderstood by others.
- T F 2. I frequently ask people for advice.
- T F 3. Articles found in pockets should either be discarded or kept by the person checking the order.
- T F 4. Sometimes my conscience really bothers me if I do something that I know is wrong, even if it's minor.
- T F 5. Just because a person steals something, that doesn't mean they are not a good person.
- T F 6. If I saw someone cheating on their time card, that's their business. I'm not going to get involved.
- T F 7. I get mad when someone loses his or her temper at me.
- T F 8. There is a big difference between someone who steals because he has to and someone who steals without a good reason.
- T F 9. How successful you are is more important than the kind of person you are.
- T F 10. I often feel that people are staring at me.
- T F 11. The manager asks you to serve another customer just as you are going on lunch break, you should ask the manager to call another counter-person, explaining that you are about to eat your lunch.
- T F 12. If I saw another employee take something that wasn't theirs, I'd report it to the boss.
- T F 13. It never bothers me to tell a lie if it's for the good of the person I'm telling it to.
- T F 14. My past employers were not concerned with me only with how much money I could make for them
- T F 15. Sometimes a person may have a good reason to steal from a place where they work.
- T F 16. In minor matters one should use their own judgment and not wait for Instructions from his supervisor.
- T F 17. You cannot really blame a person for stealing things from a place where they work if everyone else is stealing also.
- T F 18. If a customer complains because they're unhappy with the something we've done, it's probably a good Idea to act bored or disgusted so they will not be apt to try it again.
- T F 19. I once shoplifted just to see If I could get away with it.
- T F 20. If a package that belonged to someone else on my block arrived at my house by mistake, I might open it to see what was inside.
- T F 21. A fellow employee loafs on the job so that you must do more than your share of the work. You should do your fair share of the work and leave the rest undone if the ether worker doesn't do it.
- T F 22. Although they don't actually do it, most people think about steeling something from their place of work.
- T F 23. I wish I could be as happy as most other people seem to be.
- T F 24. Most people I have worked with have stolen something from work at one time or another.
- T F 25. At times, I have felt that my problems were too great to overcome.
- T F 26. Most people would lie and say they are sick to take a day off from work.
- T F 27. A customer is telling you about her hobby. The conversation bores you. It is best to listen and pretend you are interested.

(over)

- T F 28. Bringing in a friend or relative's cleaning, and tagging it under your own name to take advantage of employee discounts is not the same as stealing.
- T F 29. Most people are too honest to steal.
- T F 30. I am easily embarrassed.
- T F 31. It is objectionable, when not actually busy, to carry on a personal conversation with other salesperson within hearing of a customer.
- T F 32. It's OK to borrow money without permission, as long as you pay it back later.
- T F 33. Most people will cheat on their time card if they have a chance to do it without being caught.
- T F 34. I have had some really rotten breaks in life.
- T F 35. Have you ever thought about stealing something from work, just to get even with a really unfair boss?
- T F 36. The only reason I don't steal is because I'm too scared I'd get caught.
- T F 37. In all honesty, if I found a bag with a thousand dollars in it, and I knew who the rightful owner was, but no one else knew I found it, I would give it back.
- T F 38. In automobiles, I always wear my seat belt.
- T F 39. There was a time when I was much younger that I engaged in petty thievery.
- T F 40. Most people would do something dishonest, if the price were right.